

"I like apples, oranges, and peaches."

The Oxford comma is the comma after oranges.

"I have the greatest respect for the Oxford comma, everything that Stravinsky wrote, and the novels of Emile Zola."